Short Answer Questions

1. What do you understand by verbal communication? Give examples where it is more effective.

Verbal communication is the use of spoken or written words to convey a message. It is more effective in situations like classroom teaching, meetings, and phone conversations where immediate response is needed.

2. Explain any three skills for mastering verbal communication.

Clear pronunciation – helps in better understanding
Active listening – improves response quality
Proper vocabulary – makes communication effective

3. What is feedback? Give proper examples.

Feedback is the response given to a message by the receiver.

e.g.: A coach giving suggestions to a player after a match
A friend telling you how your presentation was

4. Differentiate between negative and positive feedback.

Positive feedback encourages, appreciates, and motivates a person to continue good performance (e.g., "Well done!", "Excellent work").

Negative feedback identifies mistakes and suggests areas for improvement (e.g., "You should improve this part", "This needs correction").

5. Give two important features of specific feedback.

It is clear and precise
It focuses on improvement

6. Why is feedback important in communication?

Feedback is important because it ensures understanding, improves communication, and helps in correcting mistakes.

7. What is informal feedback? Give two examples.

Informal feedback is casual and unstructured response.
Examples: Nodding the head, smiling.

8. What is the difference between direct and indirect objects?

A direct object receives the action of the verb.
An indirect object receives the benefit of the action.
Example: "I gave him a book" (him = indirect, book = direct).

9. Why do parts of speech play an important role in English language?

Parts of speech help in forming correct sentences and make communication clear and meaningful.

10. Differentiate between a noun and a pronoun.

A noun is a naming word (e.g., Ram, book).
A pronoun is used in place of a noun (e.g., he, it).

B. Long Answer Questions

1. Communication skills are very important for any business. Explain any two elements of a communication process.

Sender: The person who sends the message
Receiver: The person who receives and understands the message

2. Write down the common communication barriers you may come across when you move to a new school in a new country.

Language differences
Cultural differences
Lack of confidence
Different accent and pronunciation

3. Explain any three principles of effective communication.

Clarity: Message should be clear
Completeness: Message should be complete
Courtesy: Message should be polite

4. Give two examples of physical barriers.

Noise
Distance

5. What are organizational barriers? Give two examples.

Organizational barriers are problems within an organization that affect communication.
Examples:
Long hierarchy
Poor communication channels

6. Explain these Cs for effective communication: 'Complete' and 'Courteous'.

Complete: Message should include all necessary information
Courteous: Message should be polite and respectful

7. Draw and write in short about any five common signs used for Visual Communication.

Traffic light – controls traffic
Stop sign – tells vehicles to stop
Warning sign – indicates danger
Direction arrow – shows direction
No smoking sign – prohibits smoking

8. Differentiate between (Give examples also):

a. Encoding and Decoding a message

Encoding: Converting ideas into message (e.g., writing or speaking)
Decoding: Understanding the message (e.g., listening or reading)

b. Verbal and Non-Verbal Communication

Verbal: Uses words (e.g., speech, writing)
Non-verbal: Uses gestures, expressions, body language

9. Give two advantages and disadvantages of:

a. Verbal communication

Advantages: Quick, clear

Disadvantages: No permanent record

b. Non-verbal communication

Advantages: Expressive, supports verbal communication

Disadvantages: Can be misunderstood

c. Visual communication

Advantages: Easy to understand, attractive

Disadvantages: Limited details

10. What are the three parts of the sentence? Explain with examples.

Subject: Who (Ram)

Verb: Action (plays)

Object: Receiver (football)

Example: Ram plays football.

11. What is a paragraph? What are the rules for writing a paragraph?

A paragraph is a group of sentences related to one main idea.

Rules:

Focus on one main idea

Maintain proper sequence

Use clear sentences

Follow correct grammar